I am Cherilyne Michael a proud Kenang Noongar woman of Kojonup. I was born and went to school in Kojonup. I have married and have two children and five grandchildren. I learned my culture and work ethics from both of my parents.

I am an advocate for Noongar health, wellbeing and education. I am the chairperson of the Aboriginal Advisory Group of the Great Southern, which reports to the 'Aboriginal Strategic Advisory Group', and then to Western Australia Department of Communities.

As a group we listen and discuss issues and develop strategies, one of my favourite was the development of a book which discussed changes that men and women experience when having a child and its impact on relationships.

I would like to see more connection between the different groups and cultures that we have in Kojonup so that we appreciate the differences and build on the commonality, all of which will improve our resilience and our sense of belonging.

I ask for your support to build an inclusive community.
