What's New in our Library?

Hi Five – Joe Ide; One woman. Five personalities. Private investigator IQ is back to piece together a Newport Beach murder with an eyewitness who gives "people person" a whole new meaning. Cristiana is the daughter of the biggest arms dealer on the West Coast, Angus Byrne. She's also the sole witness and number one suspect in the murder of her boyfriend, found dead in her Newport Beach boutique. Isaiah Quintabe is coerced into taking the case to prove her innocence. If he can't, Angus will harm the brilliant PI's new girlfriend, ending her career.

The catch: Christiana has multiple personalities. Among them, a naïve, beautiful shopkeeper, an obnoxious drummer in a rock band, and a wanton seductress. Isaiah's dilemma: no one personality saw the entire incident. To find out what really happened the night of the murder, Isaiah must piece together clues from each of the personalities . . . before the cops close in on him.

The house at Silvermoor – Tracy Rees; Perfect for fans of Lucinda Riley and Dinah Jefferies. England, 1899. A new century is dawning, and two young friends are about to enter into a world of money, privilege and family secrets...

Josie has never questioned her life in a South Yorkshire mining village. But everything changes when she meets Tommy from the neighbouring village. Tommy has been destined for a life underground since the moment he was born. But he has far bigger dreams for his future.

United by their desire for something better and by their fascination with the local gentry, Josie and Tommy become fast friends. Wealthy and glamorous, the Sedgewicks of Silvermoor inhabit a world that is utterly forbidden to Tommy and Josie. Yet as the new century arrives, the pair become entangled with the grand family, and discover a long hidden secret. Will everything change as they all step forward into the new dawn...?

So ...You're having a teenager – Sarah MacDonald & Cathy Wilcox:

A straight-talking, laugh-out-loud survival guide to raising teenagers from two of Australia's favourite commentators.

So, you're having a teenager? Congratulations/commiserations. Worried about drugs? We recommend Valium, wine and HRT. Happy you survived the toddler tantrums? Let us introduce you to the eye roll, the cold shoulder and the incoherent mumble. On the bright side, you've reduced your need for Google - your adolescent is now able to frequently correct, hector and lecture you with their strong opinion on everything. And if you feel tired, you're not imagining it. Teen years are like dog years: for every year your teen ages, you age seven.

You need a survival guide for the testing times ahead. Friends, next-door neighbours and fellow mums of teens Sarah Macdonald and Cathy Wilcox have lived through it all and produced this straight-talking, not entirely sarcastic, informative guide to what for many parents are the most challenging - but interesting and exciting - years in the role.

From A is for Argumentative, Awkward and Angst, to Z is for Zits and Zzzzzs. Because having a toddler is a doddle.

Bwindi: the windy gorilla – Dan Sultan:

Nali meets a new friend, Bwindi. Bwindi is a very windy gorilla, from Uganda in Africa.

This is Lorreen's choice this month...

Kitty Hawke, the last inhabitant of a dying island sinking into the wind-lashed Chesapeake Bay. Until one night her granddaughter blows ashore in the midst of a storm, desperate, begging for sanctuary. For years, Kitty has kept herself to herself - with only the company of her wolfdog, Girl - unconcerned by the world outside, or perhaps avoiding its worst excesses. But blood cannot be turned away in times like these. And when trouble comes following her granddaughter, no one is more surprised than Kitty to find she will fight to save her as fiercely as her name suggests...Although no date is given, as I listened & waited to be told...is it a story from Yesterday, a story of today or a story about tomorrow & how important the bond of family is to us all.

Early Years Activities

Pom Pom Sorting:

Create a simple matching game to teach little ones about colour. Find a pack of readymade pom-poms in your local craft shop, or get an older sibling to help make a pom-pom using wool. Draw coloured circles onto a large sheet of paper, then help your toddler to sort the different pom-poms into the right colour groups.

Coloured Rice

To make your own brightly coloured rice, put about a cup (185g) of any dried rice with your choice of gel food colouring in a container. Add ½ tsp vinegar to the rice – this stops the dye from transferring – then put the lid on and shake well to mix. Spread the rice out in a thin layer on a baking sheet to dry for 2-3 hours before using.

Community survey dramatically improved understanding of Carnaby's cockatoo breeding areas in the SW region

Community members across the South West Catchments Council (SWCC) region have recently contributed more than 150 historical sightings of black cockatoos, including the endangered Carnaby's cockatoo, to an online survey aimed at understanding the habitat these birds are using across the region. Prior to this survey, there were only two registered breeding sites for the Carnaby's cockatoo within the agricultural areas of the SWCC region. Thanks to the efforts of the local community, a further nine breeding sites have been reported. Local Landcare groups will undertake detailed surveys of these nine sites in the breeding season, which is now underway. In addition to the nine breeding sites reported, a further 26 roosting sites and 91 feeding locations were also reported in the survey. Nineteen sightings of locations where cockatoos were drinking were also reported. Feeding and drinking sites are particularly important to understand as the availability of these sites are crucial for the birds to breed successfully.

Many landholders also contributed to the survey by reporting that they had not seen black cockatoos using their properties. This information is almost as important as knowing where the birds breed, roost and feed, as it ensures that efforts are not wasted trying to find birds in areas that they don't regularly use.

With Carnaby's cockatoos now having moved inland to breed this year, the survey effort will continue to gather information on the areas that the birds are currently using. Community members are encouraged to continue to contribute sightings to the survey which can be accessed at <https://app.maptionnaire.com/en/7399/>. Alternatively, sightings can be reported to your local Landcare group.

The information gathered through this ongoing survey will help to guide on-ground work to improve breeding outcomes, by ensuring that nesting sites have enough hollows for breeding birds as well as having adequate feeding and watering areas within the area surrounding these sites.

Map showing reported sightings of black cockatoos and properties mapped in the current survey. For more information, please contact your NRM/Landcare Officer on 0428712050 or landcare@kojonup.wa.gov.au.

Stop the GREEN CANCER now!

Golden Wattle (Acacia pycnantha) it is one of several Australian wattles that are known as the "green cancer" for their invasive nature. The Shire of Kojonup's Natural Resource Management Advisory Committee and Friends of Myrtle Benn Group have been trying to raise awareness about this weed and encourages members of the public to remove the trees if they are on their property.

While there is no obligation under legislation to remove these trees, it is important to be aware of their invasive nature and quickly control any new seedlings that might appear on your property.

GOLDEN WATTLE (Acacia pycnantha)

The Golden Wattle is usually a shrub or small tree to 5m tall, but sometimes taller, often with white, powdery bark on branches near the crown. It grows in many soil types and has a shallow and spreading root system which prevents competition from other species. It has a very fast growth rate and produces masses of seeds which are 55-85% viable. (FloraBase)

Environmental Impact

Golden wattle is a 'moderately important' environmental weed in Western Australia and Tasmania. It is also regarded as an environmental weed in those parts of New South Wales that are outside its native range.

This species is one of the weediest eastern Australian wattles in Western Australia. In the south-western parts of the state, golden wattle is an abundant and increasing weed of roadsides and is also becoming invasive in nearby woodlands. Golden wattle is also an environmental weed in South Africa, where it competes with and replaces indigenous species (i.e. transforms native vegetation). Dense stands are known to burn fiercely, which provides a further hazard for the indigenous flora and fauna in this country.

Under current Legislation, the golden wattle is not declared or considered noxious by any state or territory government in Australia.

For more information visit:

https://keyserver.lucidcentral.org/weeds/data/media/Html/acacia_pycnantha.htm

Management

Management practices depend on the size and density of the stand:

- Old large trees may be felled and the cut stump immediately painted with neat glyphosate or 1:60 Access® in diesel to prevent regrowth.
- In large dense stands a hot fire may be used to allow better access and encourage seed to germinate so that it may be controlled by herbicides and reduce the soil seed bank.
- For mature or juvenile trees, apply a mixture of 1 L of Access® in 60 L of diesel to the lower 500 mm of the trunk or inject the stems with 1 mL Tordon® Timber Control herbicide per 1.5 metres of height. Autumn is probably the best time to apply and repeat in 6 months if necessary.
- For seedlings, apply 4 L/ha of glyphosate (450 g/L) or spray until just wet with a mixture of 100 mL of glyphosate (450 g/L) per 10 L of water in spring.
- For juvenile trees, spray a mixture of 100 mL of glyphosate (450 g/L) (or 25 mL Garlon480) plus 25 mL Pulse® Penetrant per 10 L of water onto the foliage until just wet in spring. A concentrated mix of 1-part glyphosate with 2-parts water can also be applied using a window washer bottle. Apply about 3 mL of this solution per square metre of foliage. Lontrel®750 at 2 kg/ha may provide more selective control in some situations.
- Avoid further burning or denuding the area as this will encourage seedling establishment.
- Repeat treatment every second year to ensure that no trees reach an age where they can set seed.
- Use glyphosate, Garlon®, Grazon®, Access® or Tordon® Timber Control to paint the stumps immediately after felling or inject herbicide into the trunk as this species tends to coppice or sucker after being damaged.

Expression of Interest

The lighting at the Kojonup Airstrip has undergone significant upgrades over the past 12 months and we now have a significant number of old L.E.D's that need to be disposed of. Are they of any use to you? If so, submit an expression of interest to council@kojonup.wa.gov.au

Only Flush the Three P's – Pee, Poo & Paper

Flushing the wrong thing down toilets can damage your home and our local wastewater system. Items like kitchen towel, cotton buds, wet wipes, nappies and plastic bags should not be flushed down the toilet as this material does not break down like toilet paper.

This month Water Corporation has removed two very large 'pipe monster' blockages from the Kojonup wastewater system and are now urging local residents to not take their wastewater services for granted.

It's up to all of us to take care of our wastewater system and avoid blockages, as they are not only costly to remove but can cause damage to plumbing and homes.
